Subject: Financial Stability in York County

Dear Colleagues,

We know COVID-19 has changed the landscape for working families in York County. The long-term impacts of the pandemic are difficult to predict. We do know there continues to be an increase of needs in our community and the goal of helping families become financially stable is even more important during a time of crisis.

In the last year, our 2-1-1 helpline has received over 1,900 calls and responded to over 3,800 community needs. 2-1-1 is an emergency assistance phone line that is available 24/7. This United Way program allows people to speak to one individual about their various needs and then be directed to the appropriate agency or organization.

The goal of helping families become financially stable is even more important during a time of crisis. UWYC is equipping individuals with the tools and resources to not only earn a livable wage but effectively manage their finances so that they can break the cycle of poverty.
